Your new NHS health centre for Dulwich and south Southwark opens in spring 2020—and we want your help to name it.

If you are a member of NHS staff who will be based in the building, a patient or a local resident of south Southwark, please help by suggesting a name.

All entries will be considered by a judging panel, and the four most suitable names will be put to a public vote.

To suggest a name for your new health centre...

Go to our website and follow the on-screen instructions
www.southwarkccg.nhs.uk/namingdulwich

Or complete this entry form, fold the leaflet in half and post it securely in the suggestion box provided. Entries can only be counted if you include your full name, email address and post code. Please write in capital letters.

I think the new health centre should be called:

Your full name:

Email address / phone number:

Post code:

Please be creative—but the name must be:

Short—no more than 25 letters — this includes words like ‘health centre’

Clear—easy to use, spell and remember

Distinct— not the same as or similar to existing building or street names

Appropriate—for an NHS health centre and all ages, genders and communities

Representative of Dulwich and south Southwark’s community, location and history

Long-lasting—still relevant in 25 years

We would like to email you to keep you informed about the naming of the new health centre. Are you happy for us to email you? (please tick)

- Yes, please email me
 No, please don't email me
